

ABOUT OUR People

THURSDAY.

Mr. A. F. P. King has added a large annex to his boarding house on Fleming Avenue.

Mrs. C. Graeser and son of Charleston, S. C., are the guests of Mrs. A. E. Sample on Main street.

Rev. G. S. Jones' new store near the depot is to be occupied by the Hendersonville Candy Kitchen.

Capt. Toms spent yesterday at his Zircon mines near Zirconia where he has a force of hands at work.

The Industrial Meeting, to be held here on July 20th, promises to be the biggest thing of its kind in the county's history.

Col. W. W. Ball, associate editor of the Columbia State and family are now occupying their summer residence on Park Avenue.

Little Miss Lillie Graham Allen, who was operated upon for appendicitis on Tuesday morning is resting well and will soon be out again.

K. G. Whistler was here from Flat Rock today. He is already talking about the horse show to be "pulled off" in Hendersonville some time this summer.

Prof. Perrin head of the musical department of Limestone College of South Carolina, and his mother are at Mr. C. K. Hale's for the summer.

Dr. Dixon and W. H. Ray have sold a fine lot in their Balfour property to Geo. W. Freeman, of this town. Mr. Freeman will improve his property at once.

Smile, blame you, smile! I'll be out of the city until it quits raining. Then if you want to buy any real estate, see me! Claude Brown.

It may be only a dim dream, a fantasy of a disordered brain, but didn't Hendersonville have a Board of Trade? Where is it now? The town needs it.

Seymour Holbert, who lives on the Clear Creek Road, attended divine services at Moore's Grove last Sunday. Mr. Holbert is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

Mrs. Lizzie Russ, her mother and family are now occupying the home of her brother, J. J. Lewis, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who has taken rooms at Mrs. Gover's for the summer.

The directors of the old Auditorium Company met at Smith and Schenck's office Wednesday, and took the necessary steps toward winding up the affairs of that company.

Asheville is advocating a paid press agent for the town. They say a trained newspaper man should handle it and that the benefits to Asheville would be great. Many towns have such paid press agents.

As Asheville could not support the Moore Stock Company, an excellent organization now at the Auditorium, the company came to the town that had the crowd—Hendersonville!

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Lewis and three children, and Miss Bristol, have returned to their Philadelphia home after a ten days' visit to Rev. and Mrs. R. N. Willcox.

Dr. Snider, the well-known veterinary surgeon, has received a car of horses at his barns, the Stradley barns. Part of these fine animals are for sale and part for the Horse Show.

A. B. Freeman has let the contract for his new house in town to J. P. Case, the well-known contractor. Burnette B. Carter, the architect, has drawn the plans and will have supervision of the work.

Mrs. J. D. Beale and grandson, Master Jessie Beale McQueen, have returned from Atlanta and are guests at Busbee Hall where they will be joined later by Mrs. C. B. McQueen who is visiting relatives in Montgomery, Ala.—Citizen.

Capt. J. W. Wofford, who is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of which Hendersonville can boast, shows his appreciation of Miss Daily by assisting in the collection of news. Will others emulate his example?

Chas. F. Toms, esq., returned yesterday afternoon from a professional trip to New York. And, in the meantime, he visited Atlantic City, Philadelphia, Washington and other points of interest, the many attractions of each being thoroughly enjoyed.

Fred Gates, proprietor of the Hotel Gates News stand, has been doing a rushing business lately and by good odds he sells more single copies of the Daily Hustler than any other young fellow on the hustings. He has recently added the Raleigh News and Observer and the Charleston News and Courier to his list at Gates news stand.

Father Peter Marion, of Asheville, who solemnized the recent marriage of Miss Helouse Torte-vent and Mr. P. A. LeLong, Jr., at Flat Rock, was met at Naples by the groom, and, after a brief rest at Mrs. S. Johnston's beautiful home on Anderson avenue, was escorted to Mrs. T. R. Haynes' home in Flat Rock, where the beautiful ceremony was performed. Both Mr. LeLong and his beautiful bride are members of the oldest families of New Orleans, and have many friends both there and here who are glad to hear of their new-found happiness.

FRIDAY

H. C. Perkins left this morning for Greenville, Tenn., to be gone about 10 days.

J. D. Boyd says he's of more importance than John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Boyd pays a city license of $25 per year and John pays $5.

"Sally" Brownlee, formerly a star player on the Erskine College champions, arrived in the city last night to take up his abode with the pennant winners.

"Maplehurst," the delightful home of A. L. and L. E. Davenport, Horse Shoe, has many guests who keenly enjoy the surroundings of this beautiful place.

J. W. Kirkpatrick, a member of the 1908 Erskine College champions, made his appearance in the city last night. "Kirk" is here with the goods and we may expect great things from him.

Joseph M. Levy, a Pensacola "boomer," which he thinks the finest town in the country outside of Hendersonville, is in town, talking business with H. G. Hart, of whom he buys potatoes and cabbage in car lots.

Admiral Rogers of Washington, D. C., and Mr. N. B. Handy of Lynchburg, Va., are expected in the city in a few days on a fishing trip. Mr. Handy has fished in Green River before and will bring the Admiral along to try his luck in the beautiful mountain stream.

M. O. Dickerson and his daughter, Mary, of Rutherfordton, are guests of Mrs. J. W. Clark on South Main. Mr. Dickerson is prominent in the political affairs of his county, having been postmaster of his town and Clerk of the Rutherford County Superior Court since 1898.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roseborough, Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wray, Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Crawley and three daughters, San Antonio, Cuba; Mr. and Mrs. Clearly and two children, Lawrence, S. C.; Mr. M. O. Dickens and daughter, Rutherfordton, are guests at the Ripley Home, South Main st.

A long yellow postoffice order, different from the blue ones Postmaster Jackson sells, came thro' the mail to this office today from the Manila Postoffice, P. I., and was in payment of Mr. Allie Drake's subscription. Mr. Drake has been with the little brown men for many years now. He likes the service and the country and the Hustler reaches him every week.

SATURDAY

J. A. Bryson has returned from eastern Carolina.

A. L. Maxwell, of Horse Shoe, is another valued new subscriber to the weekly Hustler.

M. L. Byers, a prosperous farmer of the lower Tahkeestee valley, was here today on business.

Mrs. Thos. H. Vanderford, of Salisbury, for 6 years past a visitor to this resort, is the guest of Mrs. C. E. Wilson for the season.

Rev. W. A. Morris is here today from the Big Willow section. He says farmers are "in the dumps" on account of the excessive rainfall recently.

Mrs. W. F. Meadows and Mrs. E. G. Meadows, of Montgomery, Ala., are visiting Mrs. B. S. Smith. These two ladies will make an extensive tour of all points of interest in the mountains before returning home.

Mr. J. P. Yeatman, of Roanoke, Va., is in the city representing the Asheville Gazette-News, in its big contest lately started. This paper proposes to give away many thousands of dollars in the near future in way of prizes for the highest number of subscriptions gotten by any one person. It is a voting contest and Mr. Yeatman says there will be several of Hendersonville's fair sex in the race for the most popular young lady in town.

MONDAY

Mrs. W. P. McCall of Savannah, is the guest of the Misses Cheatham.

Mrs. A. E. Reynolds and child, of Salisbury, are guests of Dr. J. Steven Brown.

Ben Smith is the new janitor at the court house, vice Henry Justus, resigned. Henry says political life is very uncertain and he don't care very much for it.

Mrs. H. W. Fry and Miss Isabelle Freeman, of Atlanta, are at The Summer Home. Mrs. Fry will remain for the season; Miss Freeman for a few weeks.

Messrs. C. C. Wilson, S. D. Harper, A. B. Phillip and J. H. Dillard came up from Spartanburg late Saturday evening and spent Sunday in the city.

Miss Rosa Cheatham, Henderson, Miss Geneva Cheatham and Miss Ida May Cheatham, of Durham, are guests of their aunts, the Misses Cheatham.

Herman Potts, who has so many friends in Hendersonville, has returned from Newberry, S. C., and will breathe good old mountain air for the next two months.

The regular Saturday evening hop took place at the Gates and was greatly enjoyed by quite a number of the city visitors and young people. The music by the hotel orchestra was excellent.

Mr. George Stephens came up from Charlotte Monday, and has taken up his summer residence at Kanuga Lake. Mr. Stephens' desirable town house, corner of Park and Church, is offered for rent for the season.

Mr. Collins, of this city, entertained the gentlemen at the Blue Ridge Inn yesterday afternoon. They enjoyed a trip out to Laurel Park. The gentlemen returned to their home city this morning, thoroughly convinced that Hendersonville is the mountain resort of the South.

Miss Winona Hill, of Tuskegee, Ala., has arrived at Mrs. E. L. Ewbanks' and is a guest for the summer. She is an attractive young lady and especially gifted as an accomplished musician. Miss Hill is not among strangers altogether in Hendersonville, as there is quite a colony of Alabama people here.

Wreck on Toxaway Line.

While running at a very slow speed last Saturday afternoon train No. 7 enroute to this city from Toxaway, jumped the track on a curve just ten miles from Hendersonville. The two rear coaches were overturned, causing a general shake up of all the passengers resulting in some ten or more receiving severe wounds, the injuries being caused by broken glass flying about more than anything else.

"It was a peculiar wreck," said one of the lucky passengers while passing through the city yesterday. "We turned over so slow and easy that most everybody on the train realized what was going to happen in the next few seconds and had time to grab hold of something secure before taking the leap."

No cause has as yet been placed as the real reason of the accident, but it is generally thought that the spreading of rails had something materially to do with the affair.

There happened to be no Hendersonville people on the train at the time. Quite a number journeyed out yesterday afternoon to view the remains of the wreck.

Capt. T. S. Boswell, superintendent of this division of the Southern Railroad was in the city yesterday passing through from the scene of the wreck. He had been up to inspect as to the cause of the accident.

The passenger who was the most badly injured last Saturday afternoon is reported to be getting on nicely and will recover.

To The Watt Bryson Camp

Your committee is again called upon to record the demise of another member of our fast fading ranks.

On the 7th day of January 1909 at his home on Mills River in Henderson county, North Carolina, Capt. Will Kinsley passed from the scenes of earth to test the reality of eternity, and left behind many friends and relatives to mourn his death. Capt. Bill, as we all knew him, in the time of conflict, commanded Co. G 56, N. C. regiment, in the army commanded by Gen. R. E. Lee, the greatest soldier living or dead. Comrade Kinsley saw much hard service and never flinched in times that tried the souls of men. April 4th, 1909.

The Annual Teacher's Conference Opens

The annual county teacher's conference opened up this morning. A great many of the county teachers arrived in the city today and others are expected tomorrow. Superintendent Shitle is in charge of the work and has an interesting program for the young teachers every day this week.

Today, the opening day, at 11 o'clock an address was made by former superintendent of education McDuffie Ray of this city.

Mayor Staton next spoke to the young teachers and the candidates for such, in his earnest manner which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The examinations will not start until Wednesday and the daily programs are not very long, allowing the young people plenty of time to take in the sights of the city and nearby places. The majority of them will no doubt see the ball game this afternoon at Laurel Park.

W. C. Rector, a member of the local bar, addressed the teachers at 2 o'clock on the subject of county schools and the law.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. J. G. Hughes delivered a short address on the government of county schools. Rev. Hughes is well posted on the subject and gave the teachers some valuable information in a most pleasing manner.

Tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock Dr. Kirk, of this city, will deliver an address upon the subject of School Hygiene.—Saturday's Daily.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the kind friends and neighbors through the columns of the Hustler for all sympathy and kindness shown us in the illness and death of our darling baby Thelma.

MR. AND MRS. JAS. RHYMER.

GOOD JOKE ON HENDERSONVILLE LAWYER

Not long ago one of Hendersonville's prominent citizens was in Washington city on a business trip and stopped in one day at the office of a well known law firm. Finding one of the gentlemen of the firm in, he began relating his business to him. A young looking lady was sitting nearby and when the conversation reached any legal terms she would invariably make some suggestion. The Hendersonville man thinking it kind of strange, said to himself, "If that was my stenographer I would fire her for talking so much."

After leaving the office he struck up with a friend on his way to the hotel, and related the incident to him. The friend, seeing the blunder at once, in a laughing way said, "Do you know who that lady was?" "No," replied the North Carolinian. "Well, it was the junior member of the law firm, and she is a good one, too. The Hendersonville man was dumbfounded, and at once proceeded to set matters straight by going and apologizing to the young lady for his disregard of her worthy suggestion. "Oh, I am not surprised, that has happened before. Are there no young lady lawyers in your county?" replied the young lady. "No, not in Hendersonville," exclaimed the man.

Meet Here.

The Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Waynesville and Asheville Districts will meet at the Methodist church, this place, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 20 and 21.

All ladies of the town and county interested in missions are urged to attend. Bring your lunch and spend the day.
